Calculating loans to pay balance:

Prospective students can borrow up to $5,500 in a Federal Direct Student Loan to assist in financing the balance. Please remember this loan has a .5% loan fee. Typically, this translates to a net of $5,472.50 that is applied to the balance.

Parents who borrow a Federal Direct PLUS Loan can calculate the amount needed by taking the balance owed after all grants, scholarships, student loans and other aid (except work-study) are subtracted. This remaining balance can be multiplied by lender fees of 2.5% to calculate the amount needed to borrow.

Payment Plan Option

Parents/Students wishing to participate in a payment plan can begin in April and spread out any balance owed over 12 months, interest free.

Many parents find this an attractive alternative to borrowing a PLUS Loan. To register for a payment plan, please visit www.ecsi.net. Presbyterian College has a long and successful relationship with ECSI. We believe you will be pleased with their level of service.
