PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE
OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY DOCTORAL PROGRAM

*Improving &
Empowering
Lives*

HELP OTHERS LIVE THEIR BEST LIFE

The Occupational Therapy Doctoral Program at Presbyterian College is building the next generation of innovative researchers and servant leaders. As advanced medical practitioners, occupational therapists restore and enhance everyday occupations for patients who have experienced injury, disease, or illness.

At PC, our OTD students benefit from:

- A shorter degree program—get in the working world after just 8 semesters
- Newly renovated, OT-specific lab spaces and environmental simulation center
- Low student-faculty ratios (15:1) and small class sizes (typically 40 students or less)

If you're ready to take the next step in your career as a medical professional, PC is the place to begin.

CURRICULUM AND DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

The curriculum of the Doctoral Occupational Therapy Program at Presbyterian College replicates the science and theory-base of the profession, enabling student growth and understanding towards skilled intervention and approaches unique to occupational therapy.

The program is 33 months in duration, or 8 semesters. It comprises 113 credit hours in a mix of didactic/experiential courses (83 credits), clinical education/fieldwork (28 credits), and required programmatic competency (2 credits).

Course topics include:

- Foundational courses that include Anatomy & Physiology, Neurology, Kinesiology, Development, Cognition, & Motor Analysis.
- Occupational therapy courses introduce skills, evaluation, techniques covering the lifespan and practice settings, including courses in community mobility, environmental adaptation, mental health, work/vocational rehabilitation, health promotion, children and youth.
- Advanced courses help transition students to management, leadership, and academic roles, while developing research and program development skills within the community and the profession of occupational therapy.

ACCREDITATION

The Accreditation Council for Occupational Therapy Education (ACOTE®) is committed to the establishment, promotion, and evaluation of standards of quality in occupational therapy education to ensure effective preparation of competent entry-level occupational therapists. The PC-OTD Program received ACOTE Candidacy Status in August 2020.

"The thing that sealed the deal for me was PC's dedication to serving their community. 'While We Live, We Serve.' is more than just the PC motto; the OTD department lives by these words and looks for ways to actively serve the community of Clinton and South Carolina with our simulation lab, fieldwork, and volunteer opportunities."
