

April 9, 2026

Dear PC Community,

I am tremendously excited to see the academic work and achievements of students take center stage during Honors Day. During this annual event, we recognize the exceptional work of students and we celebrate the collaborative efforts that take place between students and faculty.

PC is known for its academic rigor, and many students soar above and beyond classroom expectations. Involvement in Honors Day is a particularly strong testament to their dedication, focus, and talent.

Our students have put their hearts and souls into their research and creative work. They have pursued their passions and satisfied their curiosity in the wide variety of disciplines in the liberal arts. They have risen early and stayed up late, all in an effort to present their best work. We are proud of their many accomplishments.

Please join me in congratulating the students presenting during Honors Day and the students receiving awards today. I am grateful for the faculty who have mentored these diligent student researchers and artists.

Welcome to Honors Day!

Respectfully,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Anita O. Gustafson". The signature is written in a cursive style.

Anita O. Gustafson, Ph.D.