

Laurens County Academy of Music at Presbyterian College

Information and Policies Spring 2024

OVERVIEW

Mission Statement:

The mission of the Laurens County Academy of Music at Presbyterian College is to provide exceptional music instruction to interested participants from the Laurens County community and beyond. The LCAM accepts children and adults from beginner to advanced ability levels. Through weekly lessons, student recitals, and immersion within a vibrant liberal arts college atmosphere, the Laurens County Academy of Music nurtures musical growth in an encouraging and professional manner.

Faculty:

Many of the LCAM faculty are also members of the Presbyterian College Music Department Faculty. With the exception of Student-Instructors, all LCAM faculty possess at least a Master's degree in music or significant performing/teaching experience. Student-Instructors are undergraduate music majors at PC who have met certain Presbyterian College Department of Music requirements and have been approved by the LCAM Director and the Department Chair to teach in the LCAM. See the webpage for a list of faculty members. <http://www.presby.edu/music/academy>

Private lessons offered:

Currently, the LCAM offers private lessons for: piano, strings, voice, woodwinds, brass, percussion, bagpipes, and guitar.

Calendar:

LCAM operates on a semester basis. Thirteen weekly lessons are offered in both the Fall and Spring terms, coinciding with the Presbyterian College academic calendar dates. Lessons are available in lengths of 30 minutes, 45 minutes, and 1 hour.

REGISTRATION

A registration form must be completed and returned to the Presbyterian College Department of Music for each and every term a student wishes to take lessons. Once a registration form and payment are received, a LCAM faculty member will contact the student to arrange a lesson time and location. To ensure sufficient time to complete 13 weeks of lessons, registration forms should be returned to the department of music office by the deadline listed at the top of the registration form. There may be limited teacher availability for registrations received after the due date.

Registration forms are available on the Department of Music website: <http://www.presby.edu/music/academy> and both LCAM and PC Facebook pages. Hard copies will be mailed to a home address upon request. For hard copies, contact the LCAM director.

LESSON POLICIES:

Scheduling lessons:

LCAM instructors will contact each student to schedule lessons prior to the first week of classes.

Lesson materials:

Students are responsible for obtaining their instruments and for purchasing lesson books and/or music scores. Photocopying copyrighted material is not permitted. Online resources such as the Petrucci Music Library may be utilized, but it is the responsibility of each individual LCAM instructor to ensure that all applicable Copyright Laws are observed.

Attendance and tardiness:

Regular weekly attendance is expected and essential for steady, musical learning. Lessons will not be extended for late arrival.

Absences:

Once a lesson time has been scheduled, that specific time is reserved in the instructor's schedule. Many teachers travel from other cities and have limited teaching availability at PC. If the student misses a lesson, the instructor must be given 24-hours notice in order for the student to receive a make-up lesson. LESSONS WILL NOT BE MADE UP IF THE INSTRUCTOR DOES NOT RECEIVE ADVANCE NOTICE, AND NO MORE THAN TWO MISSED LESSONS WILL BE MADE UP OVER THE COURSE OF A SINGLE TERM. Lessons missed by the instructor will always be made up.

In the case of emergencies or illness: If possible, please contact the instructor prior to the lesson as a courtesy. In such circumstances, lessons may be made up at the discretion of the instructor on a case-by-case basis.

Dismissal:

The LCAM reserves the right to dismiss a student from the program for poor attendance, disruptive behavior, or failure to pay tuition.

Inclement weather:

The LCAM will follow the inclement weather policy of Presbyterian College. If classes at Presbyterian College are cancelled due to adverse weather conditions, all LCAM lessons are cancelled as well. Many LCAM instructors travel to PC from other parts of the state. These instructors have the right to cancel lessons in the case that they are unable to reach Presbyterian College due to adverse weather in their location. In such cases, the lesson will be made up and not count against the student's maximum of two make-ups for the term.

Recital participation:

Performing publicly is one of the great privileges of being a musician. Recitals are held in at the ends of fall and spring semesters. All students are encouraged to participate.

Recital dress:

There is no dress code for recitals. However, recital participants are politely encouraged to choose dress that would be considered appropriate for a public performance or presentation.

Presbyterian College Department of Music Recitals and Concerts:

Students enrolled in the LCAM are welcome and highly encouraged to attend recitals and concerts sponsored by the PC Department of Music. Attending live performances is an important, and often overlooked, aspect of music learning. Many of the performances at PC are non-ticketed, free events. See the PC Department of Music Website for further details: <http://www.presby.edu/music/>
