

"At the LCAM recitals I see students grow in courage, show grace under pressure, and delight in the sheer joy of performing."

Dr. Dean Thompson,
PC Professor of English and LCAM student

"This year's teacher has been my favorite. She makes playing violin fun for my age by explaining things creatively."

Clara, age 9

"My teacher is really nice. He is good at teaching. He is encouraging. My recital was really good. I felt not really nervous because my teacher was in the crowd."

Cooper, 2nd grade

"We've been so pleased with the teachers at LCAM. They've really kept my children interested in their instruments with their enthusiasm and encouragement. I'm so pleased with my children's progress."

Jessica, parent of two LCAM students

LAURENS COUNTY ACADEMY of MUSIC

The Academy of Music provides each student exceptional music instruction designed to boost confidence and abilities. Each student will see improvement while working with the Presbyterian College music faculty or student instructors through weekly lessons, recitals, and immersion within a vibrant liberal arts college campus.

Students

Anyone, regardless of age or the ability level, will find that the Academy can help them reach their goals. Presbyterian College music faculty have been helping local musicians improve for more than 30 years. Whether you are a beginner or very advanced musician you will feel welcomed and challenged at the Academy of Music. No auditions are required to participate.
