Commencement Traditions

The pomp and pageantry of the PC commencement ceremonies grow out of a rich religious and scholarly tradition.

The bagpipes that herald the procession of faculty and candidates for degrees have their origins in the high Scottish Presbyterian Church ritual in which honored individuals are piped into an arena.

The academic dress generally conforms to a code adopted by colleges and universities at the end of the 19th century. The colors, trimmings, and patterns of the regalia are all traditional, and they interpret both the degree and the field of learning.

The bachelor's gown, designed to be worn closed, has pointed sleeves; the master's gown, which may be worn open or closed, has oblong sleeves; the doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves and is designed to be worn open or closed. Bachelor's and master's gowns are untrimmed. Doctor's gowns are faced with black velvet, with three bars across the sleeves; or the color of the velvet may be that which is distinctive of the degree.

Traditionally, the hoods were one of three colors: crimson for Doctor of Divinity (from the color of Christ's robe), deep blue for Doctor of Philosophy (from the color for truth) or green for Doctor of Medicine (from the green epaulets on the uniform of the British Surgeon General). Today, however, hoods are edged and bound with velvet of the color appropriate for the degree, such as brown for fine arts, dark blue for philosophy, green for medicine, light blue for education, orange for engineering, yellow-brown for accounting and business, scarlet for theology, and white for arts, letters and humanities.

The hoods, differing in length for the three degrees, are lined with official colors of the university or college conferring the degree, usually with one color forming a chevron pattern over the other. The standard bachelor cap is the black mortarboard and is adorned with a black tassel. The doctoral tam may have a gold tassel signifying a terminal degree or the color appropriate for a specific degree to match the doctoral hood.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT INFORMATION

The Reverend Craig N. Goodrich

The Reverend Craig N. Goodrich has served as senior pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Naples, Fla., since October 2015. The mission statement of the congregation is “In the Heart of Naples with the Love of God, we worship, we love, we grow, we serve.”

Rev. Goodrich is a native of Washington, D.C., and a graduate of St. Albans School. He is also a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he was a Morehead Scholar and a cum laude graduate of Boston College Law School.

Rev. Goodrich was in the private practice of law in Washington from 1981 to 1991. He specialized in healthcare and employment law and litigation with the law firms of Pope Ballard and Loos (subsequently Holland and Knight) and then Casson, Calligaro, and Mutryn (subsequently Calligaro and Mutryn).

In the early 1980s, Rev. Goodrich and his wife, Andie, were members of Georgetown Presbyterian Church, where he served as a trustee. They moved from Washington D.C. to Vienna, Va., and became members of Vienna Presbyterian Church. Rev. Goodrich served as an elder at the church.

In 1991, Rev. Goodrich and his family left Washington for Decatur, Ga., and Columbia Theological Seminary. He was a Columbia Scholar and graduated with distinction in 1994. Rev. Goodrich practiced law and served in the ministry from 1994 to 1996. He practiced law as counsel with the Atlanta law firm of Wilson, Strickland, and Benson and served First Presbyterian Church of Atlanta as part-time director of Christian vocation. At the church, he focused on men’s ministry and issues of faith and work. During this time, Rev. Goodrich founded the “Take Your Adversary to Lunch” program of the Atlanta Bar.

From 1996 to 2013, Rev. Goodrich served the First Presbyterian Church of Atlanta as associate pastor for administration and executive director. And from 2013 to 2015, he served as senior associate pastor of the Trinity Presbyterian Church in Atlanta.

Rev. Goodrich served the Presbytery of Greater Atlanta as a member and chair of the conflict management team and as a member and moderator of the presbytery’s Permanent Judicial Committee. Now in the Peace River Presbytery, he served as the moderator of the Steering Committee and currently is co-chair of the Finance Committee.

Rev. Goodrich is married to Andie Evans Goodrich. They have three young adult children: Caitlin, who, with her husband, Wes Jones, and their twins, Stella and Porter, reside in Atlanta; Peter, who, with wife, Kelly, are the parents of Louisa, August, and Ellis, and reside in Christchurch, Va.; and Lara, who is married to Zack Ezor. Lara and Zack reside in Durham, N.C., and are parents to Sam.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT INFORMATION

Morgan Rae Megna

Morgan Rae Megna contributed much to Presbyterian College during her time as a student. She was an active member of the Eta Xi chapter of Alpha Delta Pi. An English major, she was interested in journalism and co-wrote articles for The Blue Stocking. Morgan also served as the President of the Alpha Alpha Tau chapter of the international English honor society, Sigma Tau Delta.

Morgan's love for humanity, service, and knowledge made her a joyous presence everywhere on campus. She was always ready to speak her mind and defend her beliefs; she inspired her friends, sisters, and classmates to do the same. Morgan will be remembered as a warm and welcoming person, one whose ever-present smile lit up any room, and someone who touched everyone with her humor and keen wit.

Morgan was on the Dean's List the semester she was diagnosed with cancer. Throughout her battle against leukemia, Morgan maintained her iconic laugh, bright spirit, and steadfast passion for social justice. Presbyterian College faculty and trustees wholeheartedly supported her quest to finish her degree and voted unanimously to award her an honorary baccalaureate in October 2021. Surrounded by her family, Morgan Megna passed away on Saturday, November 20, 2021. Morgan's parents, Tony and Mary Megna, along with her sisters Emily Megna and Molly Arneman, and Mark and Ellen Callahan, are accepting her honorary baccalaureate degree today.

Alma Mater, Hail to thee

Everyone sings praise to thee,

Thou art built on faith,

We have faith in thee,

Here we stand now, side by side,

Singing praise to thee.

Great Presbyterian! Hail to thee!
