Partner Universities in Germany

1. Bamberg University

Bamberg University is considered to be both one of the oldest and one of the newest universities in Bavaria because it was initially established in 1647, but was re-founded in 1972. Bamberg University is famous for its social science and business courses, and is one of the leading universities for these fields. The university has four departments in total with specialization in Humanities, Social Sciences, Human Sciences, and Information Systems. Because these buildings were established long ago, you can also experience the historical value of the town while you are studying abroad in Bamberg.

2. Padagogische Hochschule

The city of Karlsruhe is in southern Germany, at the edge of the Black Forest on the Rhine River and near the French border. It has about 300,000 inhabitants and is the seat of important federal government institutions. At Padagogische Hochschule, you can take many courses, such as General Sciences, German language and literature, and European studies. It has and approximately 3100 students. So, it is an ideal place to go and study if you want individual focus in the class. The university offers a reputable education program. So, for education majors, Padagogische Hochschule is a great choice!

3. Hochschule Deggendorf

Hochschule Deggendorf is a newly founded institution that began in 1994. The school is located in Deggendorf, only one and a half hours to Munich by car. The school has a large population of international students and there are more than 50 countries represented. There is a wide selection of subjects to choose from, such as business informatics, applied computer sciences, and many engineering classes. While you are studying, you can also participate in student clubs. International student club should be the first club on your list to join in order to meet fellow international students. There are also many other clubs such as Campus for Christ, Student Stock Exchange Club, and Formula Student Team.
Augsburg University is one of the largest applied sciences universities in Bavaria. It offers 36 undergraduate majors. The school has about 5800 students, 150 professors, and 300 tutors. The university trains students to be innovative, creative, and progressive. The location of the university also makes it a great place for both business and research. The school also has a convenient library from which you can check-in and check-out your books by self-service. They also setup an interlibrary loan system through which you can borrow the books from the university’s partners. In your free time, you can also go and explore Augsburg. Some of the spotlights of Augsburg include Perlach Tower, Naturmuseum, and Schaezlerpalais art gallery.